- Additional information that Kroid may collect includes email address, phone number, GPS address, and physical address during registration, if an update will be done in Kroid back office settings, and as a suggestion for Kroid's third party registrations.

Disclosing Personally Identifiable Information to Third Parties

We may disclose personally identifiable information we collect from you to the following third parties, for the purposes specified:

- Service Providers. We use third parties to provide POS solutions to stores on our Kroid POS app. When you add our Delivery Service and Prepaid payment system, we will share your email address, phone number, menus, store information (name, logo) to the extent necessary in order for the third party to provide that service. These information will be retained, stored, or used for the sole purpose of what is only stated above.
- Other Third Parties. We may disclose Clover, if you're using a clover device, your email address, store name, phone number, menus and GPS address in order to create an account for subscription payments and hardware integrations necessary like credit card processing and printing.
- Other Disclosures. We may also disclose your personally identifiable information that we collect from you when we are required to do so by the law, or when we believe that disclosure is necessary to protect our rights or to comply with a judicial proceeding, court order, or legal process served on Kroid.
- Agents. We may disclose your personally identifiable information that we collect from you to our customer service agents, technical service agents, and/or sales agents in order to provide the appropriate assistance that we think that is best suited to you. The said information to be collected includes the business name, phone number, transaction details, and email address that will be collected by the agents from you in order to provide an easy and quick answer to your questions about Kroid. These information will only be used for this purpose.
- Affiliates. We may disclose your personally identified information to our employees only in order to address Kroid inquiries smoothly.

Making Changes to Your Information

This Kroid permits you to review and make changes to the personally identifiable information we collect from you. You can make changes by logging in to the Kroid

Online Back Office (<https://backoffice.kroid.net>) using your login credentials, and process the changes you wanted to make through the Kroid online back office.

Changes to this Privacy Policy

We may modify this privacy policy at any time. If we do, we will post the revised version here or notify you through sending an email. You should periodically check here or your inbox for the most up-to-date version of this privacy policy. Any changes to the privacy policy will not be retroactively applied and will not alter how we handle personally identifiable information we previously collected from you.

Response to Do Not Track Signals

Certain web browsers may provide an option by which you may have the browser inform websites or internet services you visit that you do not wish to have personally identifiable information about your activities tracked by cookies or other persistent identifiers across time and across third-party Internet websites, online or cloud computing services, online applications, or mobile applications. These are commonly called “do not track” signals. Kroid do not respond to such signals and does not track its users over time and across third party websites to provide targeted advertising.

We do not allow our third party to collect personally identifiable information about a user’s online activities, over time and across different sites, services, and applications, when that user uses our application.
